Margin Risk Disclosure Statement

It is important that you fully understand the risks involved in trading securities on margin. These risks include the following:

1. You can lose more funds than you deposit in your account(s).
2. HR Trader can force the sale of securities or other assets in your account(s).
3. HR Trader can sell your securities or other assets without contacting you.
4. You are not entitled to choose which securities or other assets in your account(s) are liquidated or sold to meet a margin call
5. HR Trader can increase its “house” maintenance margin requirements at any time and is not required to provide you advance written notice.
6. You are not entitled to an extension of time on a margin call.
7. Short selling is a margin account transaction and entails the same risks as described above.
8. HR Trader can loan out (to itself or others) the securities that collateralized your margin borrowing.

Information for Borrowing on Margin

When you borrow on margin, it is necessary for you to maintain the level of margin collateral we require (which we may change at any time). All securities or other property held by us in your account are collateral for any debit balances. A lien is created by those debits to secure the amount of money owed to us. This means securities and other property in your account can be sold to reduce or liquidate entirely any debit balances in your account, as authorized by your margin account agreement. If there is a decline in the market value of the securities or other assets that are collateral for your debits, it may be necessary for us to request additional margin.

Disclosure of Credit Terms

You will be charged interest on any credit extended to or maintained for you by HR Trader. The annual rate of interest you will be charged for a margin loan may vary based on changes in the broker’s call loan rate as published daily in the Wall Street Journal.

6 Options Agreement

Before trading options, you should review the entire Options Agreement and disclosure materials as provided by HR Trader, which can also be accessed online. Please also be sure to read a copy of the disclosure document entitled, "Characteristics and Risks of Standardized Options" a copy of which you can obtain online from the Options Clearing Corporation ("OCC").

HR Trader is a "doing business as" trade name of Vision Financial Markets LLC ("Vision"). Securities products and services are offered by Vision, which is a privately held, self-clearing broker/dealer registered with the Securities and Exchange Commission.

Option Risk Disclosure Statement

- 1. Risk of Buying Options: An option buyer (holder) runs the risk of losing the entire amount paid for the option in a relatively short period of time. The more an option is out-of-the-money and the shorter the time remaining to expiration the greater the risk that an option holder will lose all or part of his investment in the option.
2. Risk of Covered Call Writing: The writer of a covered call forgoes the opportunity to benefit from an increase in the value of the underlying instrument above the option price, but continues to bear the risk of a decline in the value of the underlying instrument.
3. Special Risks for Uncovered Option Writers: There are special risks associated with uncovered option writing that expose the investor to potentially significant loss. Therefore, this type of strategy may not be suitable for all customers approved for options transactions.
4. Special Statement for Combination and Spread Traders: Options spread traders must understand the additional risks associated with this type of trading. While it is generally accepted that spread trading may reduce the risk of loss, an investor MUST understand that this risk reduction can lead to other risks as well.

Review and Acceptance of Options Agreement

By signing this document, you agree that you are of legal age, in addition to the following:

- (a) You acknowledge that you have read and understand and agree to the Options Agreement and disclosure materials.
(b) You certify that you have received, read and understand the current options disclosure document entitled "Characteristics and Risks of Standardized Options".

6 Day Trading Agreement

HR Trader ("HR Trader," "we" or "us") is furnishing this document to you to provide facts about engaging in day trading and to alert you to the risks involved with day trading. Before engaging in day trading, which HR Trader does not recommend or endorse, you should understand these risks and carefully review this Disclosure Statement. Consult your outside financial advisor regarding any questions or concerns you may have regarding day trading.

HR Trader is a "doing business as" trade name of Vision Financial Markets LLC ("Vision"). Securities products and services are offered by Vision, which is a privately held, self-clearing broker/dealer registered with the Securities and Exchange Commission.

You should consider the following points before engaging in a day trading strategy. For purposes of this notice, a "day trading strategy" means an overall trading strategy characterized by the regular transmission by a customer of intra-day orders to effect both purchase and sale transactions in the same security or securities.

Day trading can be extremely risky. Day trading generally is not appropriate for someone of limited resources and limited investment or trading experience and low risk tolerance. You should be prepared to lose all of the funds that you use for day trading. In particular, you should not fund day trading activities with retirement savings, student loans, second mortgages, emergency funds, funds set aside for purposes such as education or home ownership, or funds required to meet your living expenses. Further, certain evidence indicates that an investment of less than $50,000 will significantly impair the ability of a day trader to make a profit. Of course, an investment of $50,000 or more will in no way guarantee success.

Be cautious of claims of large profits from day trading. You should be wary of advertisements or other statements that emphasize the potential for large profits in day trading. Day trading can also lead to large and immediate financial losses.

Day trading requires knowledge of securities markets. Day trading requires in-depth knowledge of the securities markets and trading techniques and strategies. In attempting to profit through day trading, you must compete with professional, licensed traders employed by securities firms. You should have appropriate experience before engaging in day trading.

Day trading requires knowledge of a firm's operations. You should be familiar with a securities firm's business practices, including the operation of the firm's order execution systems and procedures. Under certain market conditions, you may find it difficult or impossible to liquidate a position quickly at a reasonable price. This can occur, for example, when the market for a stock suddenly drops, or if trading is halted due to recent news events or unusual trading activity. The more volatile a stock is, the greater the likelihood that problems may be encountered in executing a transaction. In addition to normal market risks, you may experience losses due to system failures.

Day trading will generate substantial commissions, even if the per trade cost is low. Day trading involves aggressive trading, and generally you will pay commissions on each trade. The total daily commissions that you pay on your trades will add to your losses or significantly reduce your earnings. For instance, assuming that a trade costs $16 and an average of 29 transactions are conducted per day, an investor would need to generate an annual profit of $111,360 just to cover commission expenses.

Day trading on margin or short selling may result in losses beyond your initial investment. When you day trade with funds borrowed from a firm or someone else, you can lose more than the funds you originally placed at risk. A decline in the value of the securities that are purchased may require you to provide additional funds to the firm to avoid the forced sale of those securities or other securities in your account. Short selling as part of your day-trading strategy also may lead to extraordinary losses, because you may have to purchase a stock at a very high price in order to cover a short position.

Potential Registration Requirements. Persons providing investment advice for others or managing securities accounts for others may need to register as either an "Investment Adviser" under the Investment Advisers Act of 1940 or as a "Broker" or "Dealer" under the Securities Exchange Act of 1934. Such activities may also trigger state registration requirements.

Additional information on the inherent risks associated with margin accounts is available on the Securities and Exchange Commission Web site at www.sec.gov/investor/pubs/margin.htm.
